Dear Friends,

By the time you are reading this the EU referendum will be over. I write this on the 19th of June in order to get the letter in time for publication. There will of course be those who are happy about the result and others who are saddened. I do hope, however, that the animosity and vitriol which preceded the election will now have stopped, but I wait to see.

What I must say saddened me in the time leading up to the election was the sheer aggressive nature of the campaign from both sides. Is this an indication of how our society is moving, that we just accept that even political debate will be aggressive? We see so much aggressive behaviour on our screens, from games to TV drama, from daily news to historical serials that we are immune to a certain level of aggression and violence or even see it as the norm. It would appear that it is a taken that if you don't agree with someone's ideas or beliefs agreement to differ is met with challenge. Where, I may ask, is the concept of tolerance and acceptance of difference?

I am sure none of us would want to live in an homogenous society where everyone thought the same and believed the same; debate is good. Sadly, however, if debate descends into argument and argument is transferred into aggression, then there are so many consequences.

I often get a statement put to me, sometimes quite aggressively, that religion is the cause of all wars. I refute this by responding that it is not the religion itself but those who have certain strongly held beliefs who are unable to see that there might be others who have different ones and that there must always be a winner – one must be proven to be better than another. Beliefs can be shared amicably in sensible and controlled debate and we can learn from each other. The problem arises when there is a lack of tolerance and prejudice slips in.

Whatever the outcome of the EU referendum, I hope and pray that each side will accept the result and show tolerance to the other. That we can all settle down to work together for the good of all both near and far. Some will be disappointed, some elated but let us all respect each other, tolerate each other and work towards a less aggressive society where we can all rejoice in the joy of life and God's creation.

Every blessing, Rev Cate

This month's report is dominated by an excellent club open day which took place on the 5th June. We were fortunate to have great weather and a brilliant crowd for the match against our rivals the Broadhembury Lions. A gruelling 40 over contest in the sweltering heat saw the Millers seal another win. With a return to form, the Cricket club chairman retired not out on 51 and there were a number of notable performances, despite the unusually hot weather. Excellent food was provided by Yellingham's Ed East and everyone agreed it was a brilliant day. The importance of the fixture against our rivals was so great that photos of the action were taken by an expertly piloted drone – thanks James Sturley.

I must mention the game against Colestock's Crusaders at the end of May, an agricultural fixture for many reasons, the Crusaders played with pride, many having not picked up a cricket bat since school!!! Of particular note was a spell of extremely precise bowling by Joe Hynam, taking 4 for 12 (3 of those in one over!) An up to date fixture list is on the opposite page, as well as on Facebook and the village notice board. If you would like to be on the email circular then let me know.

Sadly a number of games and events have been rained off – here's to a dry July and August (everything crossed). Cheers!!!

Paul Hynam, Club Secretary

Hi folks

In last month's paper, we enclosed an envelope for your donation to the paper. So far, the donations received have been disappointing. Have you forgotten? You can hand your envelope in at the shop, or give cash to the shop volunteer, who will put it in the box for us.

As you know, we don't charge for the paper, unlike some local villages, and we do need support towards our running costs.

Thank you.

 from the village. Hope to open again early June next year.

The WI

On June 14th we heard From London Suits to Welly Boots, an interesting story of how a London estate agent left the big city, and with his former solicitor wife, became smallholders on Exmoor, with geese, chickens, ducks, sheep and pigs.

Simon Dawson fell in love with a sow the size of a small house, alongside a row of tiny piglets, smelling of chocolate, he says! And now he sells accolade winning pork at farmers' markets, and writes books on his life and sustainability.

WI Meetings in July. July 12th at 7.30 pm, in Broadhembury Hall.

A speaker from the Royal Albert Museum, Exeter, will talk about Roman Britain and the Seaton Down Hoard of 22,000 coins, found in 2013 by an amateur metal detectorist. Maybe some of us will have seen the excellent TV series, the Detectorist, and will enjoy learning even more! If you would like to join us, please contact Angie Carr on 01404 841862, or Julie Ashcroft on 841189.

The Churchyard

It has been noted that ashes have been deposited on a grave in the churchyard. Please note that permission needs to be granted for this to happen, so that a dignified procedure can take place.

Clarets' Corner

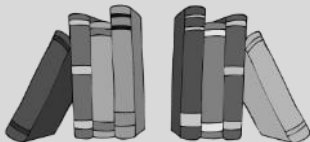

The fixtures for the 2016/17 PREMIER LEAGUE are out, and we start the season with a home match against SWANSEA CITY on August 13th, followed by away matches at LIVERPOOL and CHELSEA (fairly easy start really?). WELL DONE to Sue Derbyshire and her team for the QUEEN'S 90th BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS at the Six Bells, the children enjoyed the tea party and the ones who took part in PAYHEMBURY'S GOT TALENT were BRILLIANT!!

CONGRATULATIONS to Douglas and Vera Daymond who celebrated their DIAMOND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY recently, and I had the pleasure of delivering their card from the QUEEN. See you around the village and UP THE CLARETS!

Payhembury Weather

www.payhembury-weather.co.uk

Rainfall: May was a dryish month (2/3 of normal) but June is turning out wetter with heavy downpours during the second week, welcome for the garden but not to the cyclist!

Temperatures: Temperatures are above average on western side of UK, including Devon, but below average on East Coast due to N. Sea breezes so far in June. No summer heat wave yet.

Weather elsewhere: Floods have been a recurring theme over the past month, with the River Seine in Paris threatening to inundate the city. China and Vancouver have also been flooded recently. On the Eastern Coast of Australia huge waves have caused damage leaving three dead.

Tiramisu Recipe (serves 6 - 8)

At the Italian evening, we had some requests for this recipe. So here you are!

Christine

Ingredients

- 200g (8 oz) sponge fingers
- 300ml (10 fl.oz) strong black coffee
- 8 x 15ml (8 tbsp) Tia Maria (or rum, or brandy)
- 400g Carton of Tesco Fresh Custard
- 250g (10 oz) Tesco Mascarpone Cheese (not 'light')
- 142ml (5 fl.oz) whipping cream
- 2 x 15ml (2 tbsp) cocoa powder

Method

Pour strong black coffee and Tia Maria into a glass jug and stir. Arrange half the sponge fingers in the bottom of a deep glass dish and pour over half the coffee and Tia Maria mixture so the sponge is well soaked. Allow to stand for 10 minutes.

In a separate bowl, add the fresh custard to the mascarpone and beat together until smooth. Spread half over the sponge fingers.

Dip the remaining sponge fingers into the coffee and Tia Maria mixture and layer on top, followed by the rest of the custard mixture. Chill for 2 – 3 hours.

Lightly whip the cream and spread over the top. Dust with cocoa powder. Chill for 1 hour.

Serve!

Beware!

Please be aware if someone comes to your door purporting to sell drawings that it may be a scam. The people concerned pretend to be deaf, dumb or both, but that in itself is a lie. The drawings are not good, possibly even photocopies, and certainly not worth buying, but the sellers are relying on people's good nature. Please, if you get callers who fit this description, ring the police immediately. Even if they cannot catch those involved, it will alert the police as to their whereabouts.

Payhembury Provisions' 5th Birthday Party

Like any other five year old we are very excited to be celebrating our birthday this month. There has been such a lot for us all to learn over the last five years and we know there will be more challenges to come. Babies that were just born when we started are now at school, teenagers who volunteered with us have been through university and some have embarked on careers in retail. We have celebrated birthdays and anniversaries and commiserated over illnesses and troubles. We're happy to say we have been able to help many village organisations financially and we hope that everyone who comes into the shop feels this sense of community goodwill as well as finding it convenient to do their shopping with us. It has all been made possible by the hard work of many people, but thanks are due to our landlords, the Leach family, without whom the shop would not exist in its present form, and especially to our chairman David Curran who has given more generously of his time and expertise than anyone, and copes with whatever problems we throw at him with patience and humour, and modesty; he doesn't know we are writing this and the whole committee will probably face the sack when he reads it! Thank you from us all David.

We would like to invite everyone: volunteers, regular customers, occasional customers, suppliers and even those of you who are yet to come into your shop, to afternoon tea on us, or an ice cream for children, at the village hall on Sunday 17th July at 3.30pm to help us celebrate our first five years. Let's hope the sun shines for us all!

There will be a quiz night and supper on October 14th, keep the date free!

Record Breaking Skydive!

Kate and Kevin Wooff, Sue Holmes and Richard Jones are taking part in a Guinness World Record attempt on 22nd August at Dunkeswell Airfield. The aim is to break the record for the most tandem skydives to take place in one day. The brave skydivers will be jumping from a plane 15,000 feet in the air. They'll freefall for up to two miles, at up to 120mph, before their parachutes open!

The friends are all parents of children at the school, so they're helping to raise money for a Tentipi – a fun place for children to play and learn. More than £800 has been raised so far. If you would like to donate, please pop up to the school.

The skydive was due to take place in June, but bad weather meant it had to be postponed, Let's hope the rain holds off this time!

Nature Notes

Observations from June

Hello again

Not very summery, is it? Very wet and miserable!

The wet weather has badly affected the butterflies that we should be seeing in big numbers in the middle of June. However, there are some about — the other day, I saw two painted ladies, two orange tips, and two speckled woods up the lane. We visited Ashclyst Forest, and saw a few small pearl bordered fritillaries and a couple of broad bodied chaser dragonflies. There were plenty of wild orchids in bloom there, and we heard the lovely song of the willow warbler.

This is the month for the new young birds to be seen. Our feeders are full of them — blue and great tits, goldfinches and sparrows. I counted five young blue tits at one feeder. We also have young blackbirds and dunnocks. It's great to see them pestering their parents for food.

The other morning, I decided to add kitchen waste to the compost container. On peeling off the cover, what did I see, but a slow worm PLUS a grass snake basking in the warmth of the compost. The snake quickly shot away (I checked my trouser leg!), but the slow worm stayed put, so I picked it up and placed it in the hedge. It's amazing how strong these little creatures are — I had to hold it firmly, but carefully.

Yellingham Farm Diary – June

I rang the shearer and asked him to give me a date when he could come and shear. As usual, I got a swift reply and an even swifter date. "How about tomorrow afternoon?" There is no way you can say no as you never know when you might see them again and given the forecast looked good as well, I said yes immediately and then worried about cancelling my planned activities for the next day.

We got the sheep in early, as there was a dampness in the air and you can't shear wet sheep. It was a noisy affair as the ewes have still got their lambs at foot.

Two shearers arrived later than planned, as the job before had taken longer than expected, apparently the farmer couldn't count and there were more sheep to shear than anticipated. In no time at all, they were set up. So it wasn't long before they were shearing faster than we could role the wool and in about an hour the job was done and dusted. Lambs bleated so loud as they tried to recognise their mums without their winter coat. The four mature rams we pen up tightly for a while, as they take an instant dislike to each other once shorn and with large horns they can easily hurt each other as they sort themselves out and decide that they do actually know each other.

With the wool placed into the wool sheets and the shearers packing up, it was time for a long cold drink. Thanks to Charlotte and Libby for helping. It's always so much more fun when there is a group of you – the hot work and the smell soon become irrelevant as you all have a good laugh. I was also very pleased that we had no signs of flystrike.

Parchie and Parchina

Dear Friends, what fun we have been having. We just loved the Queen's birthday weekend. We mice had a great party, shame about the weather, but we all dressed up. We made robes from small pieces of material we found lying around; no we didn't bite bits off Rev Cate's robes. Mum was busy for days sewing tiny pieces together to make a long cloak for Parchina and we found some tin foil and made crowns. Everyone dressed up, our mice cousins came in from the field and we had a mouse street party behind the church.

We had hoped that if the children had had their tea party on the green we could gather up lots of leftovers, but we managed very well with bits we had gathered from the fields.

It was such a fun day. We watched, from a distance, Payhembury's Got Talent and enjoyed the singing and dancing and acting and then we put on our own show in the evening up on top of the screen in church. Grandpa mouse told long stories and some very strange jokes; the field mouse choir sang and played their wooden instruments and eventually we all tumbled into bed very late. It was a good job we didn't have an early service next day in church, as everyone was at CAFE and we could get a lie in.

We heard in church today Rev Cate talk about weddings coming up, Sue and Dave and Marcus and Kirsty, oh we love weddings. But we also heard about a Bell Ringing competition. Gosh I bet that will be noisy, so we might have to get ear muffs, but I bet it will be good fun. Did you know sometimes Parchina and I swing on the bell ropes? Shush don't tell Mum, she will be very cross.

Well we must run along now as there is so much to do when it's summer, so many lovely places to play and lots of food to gather, see you soon,

Parchie and Parchina

Cup of Tea and Bingo!

Our next get-togethers will be on:

Wednesday 6th July
Wednesday 3rd August
in the Parish Hall
from 2.15 pm

Still looking for some more players - we are surviving on a shoestring and if it hadn't been for the very generous donation from the village shop we would have had to give up. How sad. Surely there must be a few more folk out there with a couple of hours spare on a Wednesday afternoon who would enjoy our company. Our 12 or so regulars would really welcome you. So.....looking forward to seeing you on the 6th July.

(Just one word of warning for those in the know - it is my turn to make the cake!)

From us both - Louise and Joy

Tea Party for the Queen's Birthday

We kicked off with a delightful parade of the HATS. Marty, our lovely postman, judged the hats & the winners were:
Age 0-7 Amaya, 8-11 was Ollie, and Monica won the 12-100 age group (although she didn't look a day over 21!!)

Next was tea and a hungrier load of locusts I have never seen! Everyone enjoyed tea & I believe many of the parents managed to squeeze in a beer or two.

With appetites satisfied, back outside for Payhembury's Got Talent. Winner of the Cup was Roseanna Morris, with some beautiful ballet, and the excellent Three Little Pigs were runners up (Amaya, Maya, Isla and Lucas). We were treated to singing from Jacob Wadsworth and also Amelia, Maddie & Ava - so very hard to choose and many thanks to Reverend Cate and Jim Kimber for undertaking this difficult task.

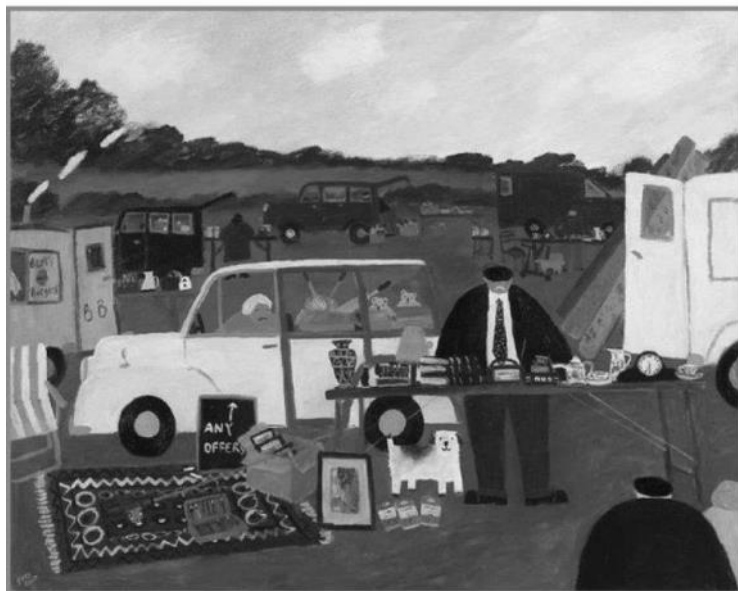

There are many people to thank:

The School, Kirsten Bauer, Kevin Wooff, Graham Mullin, Will Wood, my hubby and our Chinese student, Jane Wood, Sandra Ford, Pat Fowler, Roz & Sue H, big thanks to Marty as usual and to John Somers for providing the platform. Finally I must thank Colin and Jo at the Six Bells - they let us take over their function room, provided the white table covers, donated the squash and ice cream cones - not to mention providing a BBQ and music for afterwards - many thanks to them!
