The Rectory
Station Road, Feniton

Dear Friends,

I have to say a comment I heard from someone the other day, it was made in jest, was that, "lying seems to be fashionable". It was made after a certain political debate on television which got a lot of publicity. But it did make me wonder, if it is ok for public figures to lie so openly, when else do people lie.

What are lies? Is there a time and place for lies? We often talk about white lies, just little insignificant untruths to ease a situation; when a loved one asks if a particular part of their body looks big and in order not to upset them you might say "oh no". But is that really helpful?

I was always taught that little lies grow into big ones and I think that is often the case. The deliberate untruth can eventually turn around and bite you back. Now no-one is perfect and I expect at times we may all slip up, but it must be the intent behind the untruth which is the real cause for concern. Why is it necessary to speak an untruth? Is it to cover up a mistake? We all know children will often do that when they are young before they learn to be honest. Or is it to make some form of profit for the person involved? What then are the consequences?

Truth and honesty are the essentials in any civilized society, so we look to those in public office to be an example, so it is often shocking when we see deliberate lies, but we too have to be careful that we are not being hypocritical ourselves.

There are many references to truth in the Bible, in St Paul's letter to the Ephesians, written so long ago, he talks about the "belt of truth", I think that's a great image, not the belt holding something up or holding something in but the belt around the body which tightens with an untruth. Wouldn't it be amazing if that was the case in with public figures in debate, every time a lie was spoken the belt tightened, some might end up choking! But it would also be helpful to us that every time an untruth fell from our lips or in our thoughts we were just given a little squeeze to correct ourselves. We all as responsible citizens do have to fight hard for the truth for in the words of Jesus "the truth will set you free".

It's worth pondering just for a moment on what truth is to you and let's hope that that joke of lies being fashionable is just a joke.

Every blessing, Rev Cate

The AGM of Tale Valley Community Theatre will be held on Thursday, 17th November at 7.30pm in the small hall at Payhembury Parish Hall.

Artistic Director John Somers will outline projects which are planned for the next year which will include an extension of the WW1 Promenade Theatre project which TVCT actors performed in Princesshay as part of the commemoration of the Battle of the Somme.

There is also a plan to work on a new play written by John about farming. This will get its premier at The Walronds in Cullompton on 14th and 15th October.

If you have ideas on mounting original work please contact John on J.W.Somers@exeter.ac.uk or 01884 277390. He is very willing to help people achieve new work.

- Newcomers to Payhembury may not know that Tale Valley Community Theatre (TVCT) was formed following a request from Alf Boom, at that time a Payhembury Parish Hall Committee member, to John Somers to make a dramatic event to celebrate the turn of the millennium. The result was 'Parson Terry's Dinner' and other stories. A steady stream of original work has followed, each involving between 73 and 235 local people to date. The theatre company focuses mainly on stories which spring from the communities and countryside in Payhembury and surrounding parishes. New participants, with or without theatrical experience, are always welcome.

HONITON MINOR INJURIES UNIT

The closing time at Honiton MIU is now 8pm every day instead of 10pm. The reduction in hours has been caused by staffing difficulties, and the situation is due to be reviewed before the end of the year. Meanwhile, the future of inpatients beds at the hospital is threatened by an NHS Devon Clinical Commissioning Group's proposal to close them. A steering group of objectors has been formed in Honiton to fight the proposal.

Are you interested in drawing or painting?

Come and join us at our friendly, informal Art Group which meets for two hours, 10am-12pm on Tuesday mornings in The Six Bells function room. No tuition, bring your own materials, choose your own subject - and simply enjoy doing your own thing, whether you're a beginner, rusty through lack of practice, or an accomplished artist. More info from Sue Derbyshire - 01404 841103

Thank you ...

A huge thanks to the ladies on the church flower rota for doing the flowers for the past year. I will soon be preparing the rota for 2017, and wondered if there were any of the ladies or gents who have recently moved into the parish who would like to do some flower arranging in the church. Could anyone interested please contact Louise Granger on 01404841457.

The British Legion Poppy Appeal -

Could you help keep a long local tradition alive?

As you know the British Legion Poppy Appeal has had a house-to-house collection for many years in Broadhembury, Payhembury and Plymtree. After ten years of distributing boxes I have decided to 'retire'. I do hope someone can take my place in 2017 otherwise this long tradition will cease.

CLARETS' CORNER

The CLARETS are stuck on seven points at the moment - all of them at home at TURF MOOR. We are struggling to get results away from home but I'm confident that will change soon.

For a couple of weeks recently I have been seen driving a WHITE VAN, with all sorts of comments coming my way. So to answer all the questions - my RED VAN was in the workshops for an INSPECTION / MOT, not bent or damaged!

Meanwhile down at Lower Tale at Pear Tree Cottage, the home of John and Di Somers, for as long as I have been delivering their post (almost 32 years) they have had a nice cloth bag hanging on the door handle. But one day I went to the door and the bag was GONE, replaced by another, inferior bag.

I asked Di what had happened to the old one and she told me it was falling to bits. I must have shown my disappointment because the cottage didn't look the same without it. But within a couple of days the old bag was back on the handle very neatly repaired! WELL DONE Di !!

See you around the village and UP THE CLARETS.

MARTY

Hello friends

Can you see what I'm doing in this picture? I've been gathering conkers. Parchina and I found this lovely tree, I think it's called a horse chestnut tree. I wonder why horse chestnut? Um!

Well we found this tree and underneath were hundreds of conkers, lovely shiny brown conkers, some were still in their shells but others had popped out and were just lying on the ground.

So we gathered them up and have been playing with them for days. Mum was pleased when we brought some home as she says conkers keep the spiders away and she doesn't like spiders as they make too many webs across our nest. We have also been collecting the empty shells as they are really useful to hide all our little mouse treasures in our nest.

Our favourite game though is to climb on top of the conkers and see how far we can go rolling them under our feet until we fall off. I have to say Parchina is much better at this than me, but we have had some fun and some bruises when we've fallen off.

We have also been very busy collecting moss and straw for our nests as we know winter is coming and we need to keep warm and we've had to store up some nuts and fruit as well. We enjoyed harvest festival as there were plenty of goodies all around church for us to nibble and still leave plenty for other people.

It's such fun when there are celebrations in church like the Christening of little Ida Gilbert, but she wasn't very happy when Rev Cate poured water over her head. I'm not surprised, but no one seemed to mind and everyone looked very happy. Well must dash off. Time for more conker rolling, squeaks, Parchie and Parchina.

Parish Paper Deadline Friday, November 18, 4pm

Please try to get your news items and articles in early. If you can't make the deadline, let us know in advance, and we'll do our best to accommodate you. Next month's editor's tel number is on the cover.

The Writing Wall

Last Winter and Spring's 'Poetry Pot' attracted attention in Payhembury and beyond and I would like to start up a new literature page this Autumn. Clearly, unless we delve into more unusual types of poetry – which I think would result in fewer contributions – we would soon run out of forms of poems. I have therefore decided to open up the writing styles to include a more varied menu. These will vary each month and I hope that you will feel able to send in contributions which will be printed in the Payhembury Parish Paper each month and/or be available on the Parish Website.

The first category is a reflection on Summer 2016. For many this will have included holidays – for some in exotic places abroad or on cruise ships, whilst for others it may have meant entertaining family members and day-trips to local beaches, cliffs and moors. For others it may have been memorable for less happy reasons. Let's call it 'Summer Memories'.

For those still at school it will have meant freedom from not having daily lessons and homework – but also the absence of many friends. For post-school students it may have involved last minute panic to get that field-study or essay done. For working people there may have been a holiday period – perhaps abroad, whilst for others, time may have been devoted to gardening, walking or other activities which summertime makes possible.

So, please write about a significant experience from your summer. Rather than provide all of the details such as which resort and beach, who you were with etc., focus your writing on particular aspect(s) of the experience - for example, the seagull who stole your chips, the growth and flowering of a much-loved plant which you thought had died, picking up the new puppy, losing your way in the bazaar, the bike ride in the rain, eating the first /last raspberries, the late-night parties in the adjacent chalet, the scrape on the car, the ice-cream cornet which

Maximum 200 words to me by November 10th with selected pieces to appear in the Payhembury December magazine and other work on the Payhembury Parish Website. Happy to advise.

Go on ..... have a go!

Success!

Our quiz night on Friday 14 October cleared £450. The money raised will go to help run our beautiful church. We wish to thank those who contributed in any way to the running of the evening, but especially Lesley Elford, and to all those who came and took part. At times it was frustrating, puzzling, nail-biting even, but all-in-all brilliant fun. Thank you from the PCC.

Blackdown Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty

If you're interested in the work of the Blackdown Hills Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB) and would like to find out more, why not come along to our next Management Group Meeting? It will take place at 11.30am on Thursday 3rd November at Churchinford Village Hall. The meeting is open to the public and you're more than welcome to attend.

The meeting will start with questions from the public, so if you have a question about the work of the AONB, please notify us at the Blackdown Hills AONB office: blackdownhills@devon.gov.uk 01823 680 681. Ideally we'd like to receive questions two working days before the meeting.

Nature Notes

Heard...

...but not seen

Hello Nature lovers

The fine weather has continued well into October this year, and the birds have enjoyed it. The swallows and martins stayed about until early October, I saw them at Upton on the first! There were a few butterflies about too - there was a peacock, a red admiral, a few whites and a dragon fly there.

On another walk, past Barrow Road, there were two jays in an oak tree, plus great tits and robins singing. We have lots of goldfinches in our garden. There are two families---they must have been very late broods, because the parent birds are feeding the youngsters. Both the green and the great spotted woodpeckers visit us regularly. Yesterday, I saw a squirrel frighten a woodpecker off the feeder.

The Listers have heard owls in their garden, but have not seen them. They have heard both tawny and little owls. There was a tawny owl in one of the poplar trees outside the Parish Hall the other night.

The sparrow hawks have been active in our area. I came across a pigeon carcass in Barrow Road---feathers everywhere! I've also seen evidence of other kills in the lanes. It's a bit macabre, but they do have to eat to live!

TALE VALLEY TRUST

The Tale Valley is one of the most beautiful parts of East Devon, but one that is little known. By working together, the residents and businesses of the Tale Valley can protect and improve their environment. By forming a Charitable Trust they have established a focus for funds to pay for rural regeneration.

Some of the Projects the Trust has helped since its 2007 formation

- Farm plans to get the Tale back to health. Wonderful co-operation from farmers, riparian owners and tenants resulted in the charity winning a national award. Culminating in the return of otters to the river.
- Hard standing for parking cars at Escot Church.
- Help with the library at Payhembury School.
- Help with setting up the Talaton Village Shop.
- Helping Plymtree Play Group.
- Money to revitalise the Broadhembury playground.
- Helping the refurbishment of Talaton & Escot Churches.
- Financial help in repairing flood damage at Feniton Church.
- Further work on the river Tale and the successful reintroduction of Water Voles.
- Financial contribution to two of the Plays produced at Payhembury.
- Financial help with the start of Otter Rotters.
- Helped fund the restoration of Patteson Cross.
- Many years of combatting the invasive Himalayan Balsam on the Tale.

For more information about the Trust - whether you might like to volunteer help on projects, offer a donation towards the Trust's ongoing work, or seek financial assistance for a project, visit their website at www.talevalley.com

The new Village Tree

The Payhembury Parish Council would like to say a big THANK YOU to everyone who has, very kindly, watered the new tree over the dry summer months. We hope that you will continue to do so until the rains come, as they surely will in the not too distant future! In the meantime we hope that everyone is enjoying the tree in its Autumn plumage.

Your emails & letters to the Editor:

(From Lin Horrocks...)

Dear All,

I will be moving to Hawkchurch in a couple of weeks and so I'm passing over my advertising executive hat to Ceri Deane. She will be looking after the paper from the November issue onwards and so please could you forward any queries to her.

The new email address is parishmagadverts@gmail.com

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you all for your support over the years - looking back I can't believe that I've been doing this for 5 years. Your adverts in the paper allow us to distribute it free of charge to everyone in the Parish and I know that many people find it an invaluable life-line and of great use when they need to phone a friend to help with a leak or some such emergency!

I wish you all the best with your businesses in the future and send a big vote of thanks to Ceri for taking on the job of looking after the adverts.

Lin :)

Editor: We all owe Lin a huge debt of gratitude for her fantastic contribution to the Parish Paper as Advertisement Manager over the past five years.

But a big "WELCOME" to Ceri for agreeing to take over responsibility for advertising in the Parish Paper. Her email address for your advertisements is: parishmagadverts@gmail.com

Open Gardens 2017

You may remember that in 2015 I organised an Open Gardens afternoon in Payhembury. The event was very successful with five gardens being open and Hospiscare Devon benefited to a sum in excess of £1400.

My reason for writing is that I am arranging another Open Gardens event to be held on the afternoon of Sunday June 25th 2017 again for the benefit of Hospice Care.

I have had some interest from residents who are willing to open their gardens already but would like a few more. The garden can be any size as long as there is something of interest for visitors.

I have arranged for the Parish Hall and car park to be available so that visitors will be able to get refreshments, park their cars and obtain details of the gardens open.

If you would be willing to open your garden on this day or would like more details please contact me - Roy Clark on tel. 841257 or leave a message at the village shop.

If you would like to submit a letter, you can "post" it in the Paper's postbox at the church gate. Or send it to our email address: payhemburypaper@yahoo.co.uk

Payhembury Weather

www.payhembury-weather.co.uk

Rainfall: The relatively dry weather continues from September into October with the first 2 weeks of October with hardly any rain. October rain has finally arrived though as I write this. The summer as a whole in the south west has only had around 80% of the normal rainfall.

Temperatures: September was 2 degC warmer than normal with a southerly airflow from the Continent but October has started cooler with the wind coming from the east. There are 2 days missing for the October figures. For the summer as a whole it was just slightly warmer than normal in the south west.

Weather elsewhere: Hurricane Matthew has caused devastation in Haiti and serious flooding along the SE states of the U.S. This was followed by Hurricane Nicole which headed for Bermuda and caused disruption. The minimum in the Arctic sea-ice cover for this year was the fifth lowest on record at least for the satellite era.

NEWS from Payhembury Provisions ...

Although the big supermarkets have been pushing mince pies and Christmas puddings at us since early September we have resisted the urge to tell you about our Christmas plans until now but we are delighted to say that we will have Orchard Farm turkeys and geese available to order once again this Christmas.

If you would like to read more about these birds strolling around the orchards eating windfall apples and local corn then please have a look at their website <http://www.orchardfarm.co.uk/index.htm> An order form and price list (very competitive prices!) will be in the shop from mid-November, the last order date is 12th December, and your turkey or goose will be available for a fuss-free collection from the village hall on 23rd December.

We are also very pleased to say that we will be having more beef from Yellingham Farm at the beginning of December. Janet and Ed are renowned for the high welfare of their animals and this results in very tasty beef for us. We will have a supply of minced beef and casserole cuts but if you would like a special joint or some steaks it is best to order these. An order sheet and price list is in the shop, again at very competitive prices!

More Christmas news next month!

Editor: On behalf of the Parish Paper Committee we would like to say a heartfelt "Thank you" to Payhembury Provisions for their much-appreciated donation of £150 towards our monthly production costs.
