Jesus's 'Beatitudes' carry familiar phrases – 'Blessed are the meek / Blessed are the poor in Spirit / etc'. A recent Facebook post offered a wonderful modern-day 'Beatitude': 'Blessed are we who laugh at ourselves, for we shall always be entertained.' It was accompanied by a photo of three monkeys in fits of laughter. Wise, as well as witty, words. (With thanks to the 'Clergy Coaching Network' Facebook group for this 'Beatitude'.)

February is not renowned as a fun month. Winter's cold and gloom have outstayed their welcome, even if the days lengthen. As a child of the '60s, my domestic soundtrack included Flanders and Swann's songs. 'February's ice and sleet, freeze the toes right off your feet,' they sang in the gloriously British 'Song of the Weather'. 'In July the sun is hot. Is it shining? No it's not', and so on. Why did I need to study meteorology, with this classic guide to the weather?

Laughter isn't always possible, of course. But joy and laughter surely stem from the very roots of our being. To finish, a poem by Paul Bunday which wonderfully imagines the source of it all. Suitable for February and any month.

In the beginning...
God laughed
And the firmament fumed and spluttered with pleasure; and the sea shook the foam of hair from his eyes.
And the earth was glad.
The sound of laughter
Was like the swaying and swinging of thunder in mirth; Like the rush of the north on a drowsy and dozing land;
It was cold. It was clear.
The lion leapt down at the bleating feet of the frightened lamb and smiled.
And the viper was tamed by the thrill of the earth,
At the holy laughter.
We laughed, for the Lord was laughing with us in the evening; for the laughter of love went peeling into the night;
And it was good.

VILLAGE HALL EVENTS AND WEBSITE

As 2019 rubs its sleepy eyes, stretches and tries to get into gear and shake off the holiday hangover, we at the Village Hall are kicking off with a new website (<http://payhemburyvillagehall.org.uk/>) and starting to put together events. The aim is to try to make sure everyone gets to hear about things that might interest them - what's going on in the Hall, elsewhere in the village (including Pub, Church etc), and other events of interest in East Devon and the South West.... with the added aim of raising money for some fantastic improvements to the Hall.

Please check out the website for details, and come along whether you are just curious or if you already know you want to join.

BROADHEMBURY AND DISTRICT GARDENING CLUB

The year got off to a good start at with our guest speaker Caradoc Doy, who gave an interesting talk on "Plants from other lands." Caradoc is an authority on the history of plants introduced to the U.K. during the Victorian period, particularly relating to the Veitch family nurseries of Exeter and Chelsea. It was surprising to learn how many of the garden plants we know today were brought back from across the world by generations of this family. Members also brought in Hyacinths they had been growing since we gave out bulbs at one of our autumn meetings. There was a good selection considering the growing conditions, and Christmas!

February Meeting

This will take place on Wednesday 6th February at 7.30pm in Broadhembury Memorial Hall.

There is a change to the programme on the calendar and we will now be having a talk from David Usher on trees, shrubs and pruning. New members and visitors are always most welcome to come and enjoy excellent speakers, tea and cake, a superb raffle and the company of other gardeners. Visitors usually £2, annual membership £10.

PAYHEMBURY TO COLESTOCKS PATH

As many already know the path is now open. There is an excellent surface suitable for pushchairs, children's bikes and motorised wheelchairs. There will be a dog-poo bin near the Colestocks end, there is already one in the village. Please use these and take your litter home. The Parish Council would like to thank all those who donated money and materials, and especially Robert Leach and his staff who along with the Glebe Shoot did the hard graft.

There will be an official opening of the path combined with the Parish AGM on 30th March.

These photos, as well as the picture on the front page, were taken by Biddy Hall on New Year's Day, "whilst I was walking the lovely new footpath (Thank you Rob Leach and his Team) and enjoying some sun at last!"

The University of the Third Age Learn, Laugh, Live'

The Honiton U3A will be meeting on Wednesday 27th February when our speaker will be Dr, John Somers – and his talk is entitled 'Paraffin Lamps & Jigsaw Puzzles'.

John is one of our Honiton U3A members and he will be telling us his own story of a childhood spent in Wales, in a house without either electricity or many of the conveniences which we now take for granted

Although the talk concentrated on the rather gloomy subject of preparation for our demise, the topic is approached with humour, amusing anecdotes and a wealth of good advice. The W.I.

January meeting

Imagine our disappointment when our eager anticipation of a Spectacular Evening of Biscuits... courtesy of Teoni from Willand, were dashed, as Teoni had an emergency and couldn't come....rather like the unexpected falling biscuit hitting the hot cup of tea, only to dissolve completely.

Nevertheless, we all pressed on regardless, and decided which of the National WIs 2019 campaign resolutions we would vote for. It turned out to be an unlikely partnership....Pelvic Floor Education, and Local Bus services Decline.

This year the subject is Challenging the Stigma associated with Mental Health. We cover a wide field in the WI.

February 12th at 7.30pm in Broadhembury Hall

We are fortunate to welcome Geoff Rickson from the Samaritans, who will tell us about the who, what, why and where, concerning this important organisation, and it's role in helping ameliorate deep unhappiness which might lead to desperate measures.

If you would be interested in coming along, and seeing what goes on at the modern WI, you will be very welcome. Please contact tact Julie Ashcroft on 841189, or Angie Carr on 841862.

It's the start of the Chinese New Year on February 5th; and it's the year of the Pig so that should go down well in Payhembury! To celebrate here's a recipe with a Chinese flavour; it will satisfy the urge for something fresh and zingy at this time of year and you'll find nearly all the ingredients you need on our shelves.

Spicy Crispy Beef

Ingredients: Approx 250g left over roast beef (or chicken, duck, pork or to-fu) Vegetable oil, for frying, 3 tablespoons cornflour, * 1 teaspoon Chinese five-spice powder, a little very finely grated orange zest, pinch of flaky sea salt

For the sauce: 3 tablespoons sweet chilli sauce, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, 1 garlic clove, grated, ¼ teaspoon finely grated ginger, juice of ½ orange

For the salad: Crisp lettuce leaves finely shredded, 1 grated carrot, ½ small cucumber, cut into thin batons, 3 sliced spring onions, 1 tablespoon rice wine vinegar or cider vinegar.

First make the sauce: Simmer all the sauce ingredients for a couple of minutes until thickened, then set aside. Cut the beef into thin strips. Sift the cornflour and five-spice powder onto a plate and toss the beef strips in it until well coated. Heat a 2–3cm depth of oil in a deep saucepan – the oil will bubble up when you add the beef, so don't use a shallow pan. Heat the oil to 180°C, or until a cube of dry white bread dropped in turns golden in just under a minute. Fry the beef in a couple of batches to avoid crowding the pan. Lower into the hot oil and fry until golden and crisp, which should only take a couple of minutes. Scoop out with a slotted spoon and place on kitchen paper to drain. Mix the orange zest with the flaky sea salt and sprinkle over the beef. For the salad, toss the vegetables together with the rice wine/cider vinegar. Pile the salad and crispy beef onto individual plates. Trickle on the sauce adding a scattering of sesame seeds if you like.

*We don't currently stock Chinese 5 spice powder, but you can substitute with equal quantities of star anise, fennel and cinnamon with a pinch of cloves and pepper all of which we stock.

Finally, don't forget Valentine's Day, we have chocolates, wine and fresh Cornish daffodils to gladden anyone's heart.

Paul's Nature Notes – January 2019

Did you know that the River Exe estuary is a RAMSAR site? This means that it is a wetland area of international importance and to visit the river in winter will immediately make you understand why, as the estuary is a major refuge for tens of thousands of birds. Make no mistake - this is a world-class bird location, and one which is right on our very own doorstep.

The most important winter inhabitants are the Black-tailed and Bar-tailed Godwits and they can number about 1200, whilst you also expect to see hundreds of Avocets, Brent Geese and all manner of wildfowl, waders and seabirds and smaller numbers of Curlews and Red-breasted Mergansers with their funky head plumage. We were also incredibly lucky to see a Grey Seal on a sandbank in the middle of the river.

The RSPB runs regular winter cruises out of Topsham, but you will get far better value by joining a guided Stuart Line Bird Watching Cruise out of Exmouth, which is cheaper and you get to spend twice as long on the river. You will enjoy an expert commentary and snacks are available as well, but you do need to book in advance.

If there is time after you return to the dock, get yourself off to Bowling Green Marsh although you may wish to leave this for another day to get the maximum benefit from your time there. Whilst many keen birders do not seem to mind seeing birds as tiny dots on the horizon, for me the greatest thrill is to get close up and personal and at Bowling Green Marsh you will be amazed at just how close you can get to some of the birds.

On the home front, we have waited three years to see a Nuthatch on our feeders, where we have also enjoyed incredibly close views of Great Spotted Woodpeckers just outside our dining room windows. In the past they have always kept their distance – I suspect that this individual is one of those which hatched out in the garden earlier this year.

Andrew and Cherry have reported seeing a Barn Owl at Mousehole, when it took refuge in one of their trees after being harried by a pair of crows and Bidy in Colestocks saw off a Sparrowhawk, which turned up at her bird feeders.

Thank You

A very big thanks to everyone who came out carolling. We had a fantastic evening (even the weather was kind to us). I must also mention the 'Silver' family from Colestocks who every year invite us into their home where we are fed and watered before singing around their ginormous Christmas tree. We then returned to the Six Bells where we sung our final carols, (thanks for having us). We collected over £170 which will go to the Payhembury Relief Fund, this is all down to your generosity - thanks!

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU ALL

Lesley Elford

The collection in church during December from those who dedicated stars to hang on our tree raised £53.12. This will be sent to St Petrock's, the charity in Exeter for people who are homeless or vulnerably housed. This was a good result. Thanks to all who took part and to Sandra Ford for her inspiration and work in setting it up.

2018 Poppy Appeal

The news of this particularly important collection might be a bit late, but is happily our best ever! Payhembury wanted to honour those who gave their lives, especially on the 100th anniversary of the First World War and donated a terrific £545.10 to the Royal British Legion.

This will be of great help to the RBL in assisting those former members of the armed forces or their families who are in need.

Many thanks to the people of Payhembury for your generosity.

Country Road Safe Driving Tips

The increase in numbers and size of vehicles has seen the need for a more careful and different approach to safe driving on our narrow roads. Adherence to the following tips improves safety and enjoyment in our beautiful countryside.

DO

- Drive more slowly on narrow sections and bends
- If following another vehicle, leave room to use pullover passing places
- Keep left at all times, especially on bends and blind corners. Sound your horn!
- Use dipped headlights so that you can be seen, main beam when dull and at night—dipping in good time
- Stop to allow approaching and overtaking cyclists and horses, especially those ridden by children

DO NOT

- Speed - there are other people, cyclists, animals and vehicles on the road as well
- Drive close coupled or in convoy, leave room between vehicles to use passing places
- Expect others to always reverse - there may be a passing place close behind you and remember to acknowledge the other driver, a "Thank you" courtesy is very much appreciated.

This submission was made anonymously and is a "joint consultation with a few fellow drivers"

The aptly titled poem Take Me Home Country Roads by Pete Penly can be found in the May 2017 issue of the Parish Magazine, download and turn to page 10 <http://www.payhembury.org.uk/parish-paper-may-issue/>

Introducing Beyond the Box!

7.00pm for 7.30pm March 2nd Broadhem-
bury Memorial Hall Tickets £7.00

As I write this today, one of my, and many people's, most loved and admired poets, the American Pulitzer Poet Mary Oliver, has died, aged 83 years. She has been the inspiration behind the performance of Beyond the Box as a charity fundraising event for Shelterbox. She is a poet whose name you may not know, but whose words you probably have heard somewhere along the way:

'Tell me, what is it you plan to do with your one wild and precious life?'

It was because I so loved her poems, with their intimate observations of the natural world, mirroring our deepest personal and global challenges that I found an accessible link between her poems and the work of Shelterbox.

For a long time I've been wanting to create a community event which raises both funds and awareness of their achievements and challenges. It seemed a perfect way to combine Mary's poems, traditional stories and music together with the Shelterbox team. They will bring their green box, and share the current stories and updates from around the world.

So it all began to fall into place... people were happy to support the event with their own skills and talents and so, the event is happening and being prepared in every way to make it an informative, entertaining and inspirational evening.

For Mary Oliver's death to come at such a time, as I am living and breathing her poems, it feels both personal and poignant and I share this to enrich our evening together. Do join us if you can, there will be many of us supporting the evening in aid of such an incredible charity.

homeless by natural disaster and conflict. We're working to change this.

By providing emergency shelter and tools for families robbed of their homes by disaster, we're transforming despair into hope.'

Beyond the Box performance is a poetic retelling of the hazardous journey of loss and chaos after disaster strikes. Weaving poem, music and traditional story and interspersed with real life stories from the Shelterbox team, the journey is brought vibrantly to life into hope and strength.

'Shelter is more than just a roof – it's a home. It's the foundation for life, for families, for communities, for peace.

When natural disasters and conflicts rob people of their homes, we can't wave a magic wand to replace what was lost, but we can help create something new. We can provide people with the tools to start the process of their own recovery.' Shelterbox.
