Rectory notes May 2021 – Images of service

It's less than 24 hours since the funeral of the Duke of Edinburgh as I write this. The images are raw. The military precision of the procession in the bright sunshine. The Royal family, grieving but together. Most of all, the Queen in the double pain of her husband's funeral with Covid restrictions. The first glimpse of her seated in the limousine, face-masked. Then most poignantly of all, sat in the Chapel isolated from her family members. Vulnerable and frail, she walked the painful path so many others have done in these past months, her mourning cramped by Covid. Like her parents walking the war-time bombed-out streets of London, she was one of us.

As the years have passed I have become an increasing fan of the Queen. The saga of the Royal Family ebbs and flows – they are a family, after all. The Queen, for me, is in her own league. There have been moments when she appears to have found dealing with the changing world difficult. But the dedication, service and humility she has resiliently shown over so many decades is extraordinary.

The Queen is, of course, head of the Church of England. Her formal title is quite a mouthful – 'Defender of the Faith and Supreme Governor of the Church of England' (I had to look this up!). She is therefore my most senior boss. As in all jobs, it helps if you respect your boss. Thankfully in this case this isn't difficult.

My favourite portrait of Christ in Scripture is from St Paul in his Philippian letter, most likely quoting an early Christian hymn:

...though he was in the form of God,
he did not regard equality with God
as something to be exploited,
but emptied himself,
taking the form of a slave,
being born in human likeness.
And being found in human form,
he humbled himself...

The Church has not always reflected this humility of Christ well, too often favouring lording it over more than serving people. The Queen's instinct for humble service has made her a true Head. Prince Philip's unwavering support for her helped her live this out.

Bugles rang out in St George's Chapel at the funeral service's end: the hope of resurrection is sounded. We are in the Easter season. As the Queen steps onward, in her service and in her own valley of the shadow of death, may her step be lightened a little by that hope – for her husband, herself, and her nation.

Hospiscare Coffee Morning

You are invited to a socially distanced coffee morning in Warren Close on Monday 3rd May at 11am. Come and join us outside so we can renew our friendships and meet new residents of the village. Our linked gardens with permissibly correct number in each garden to keep everyone safe but enjoy each other's company. All are welcome especially if you have recently moved into Payhembury we would like to meet you.

at the village hall car park

Welcome to Caroline at the Victoria Dairy Barns!

Parish Paper Deadline:
Tuesday 18th May, 4pm

Good Gracious! The Die Is cast! The future if our WI has been decided. Almost every one of our members voted in a secret ballot, and of those, all were in favour of suspension. (Should anyone wish to start another WI within three years, then that new group will inherit the cash we had built up, but couldn't spend in time due to the lock-downs).

And so we join our neighbours Payhembury, Plymtree and Kentisbeare in becoming an ex WI. It is sad but inevitable. But the good news is that we shall not lose touch with each other.

The friendships that the WI made happen will continue as we meet up every month, more or less as before, but without the minutes being taken. An Old Girls Group will be there for anyone who wants to come to it.... I'll arrange the first meeting, and later a different person each month can organise something. We can do anything we want...skydiving maybe?? Emails will be sent to participating people!

With best wishes from Julie (ashcra01@gmail.com)
(Please contact Julie via email should you wish to be kept in the loop)

You won't have seen her behind the till over the last year but we know many of you would like to join us in wishing Pam Kearley happiness in her new home when she and Barry move house this month after 23 years in Luton. Pam has been a stalwart supporter of the shop from the start and volunteered week in week out on a Saturday morning for years often working with teenagers doing their D of E awards. Her warm and friendly nature was a huge support to them and a joy for all our customers. Thank you Pam from us all!

We have recently had some more new local products in the shop. The beautiful Spring flowers from Colestocks Flower Farm have proved very popular and we will continue to have fresh deliveries every week through the summer. If you would like a larger bunch for a special occasion please come and talk to us.

One of the few things that is still truly seasonal is English asparagus and Dart Fresh, our local fruit and veg merchant, tell us that it will soon be available. We are likely to have some for sale in the shop but if you would like to make a special order for this or any other vegetable or fruit just give us a ring on 841856. We are always happy to see if we can help.

Last year we entered the Countryside Alliance competition for the best village shop. We were delighted to learn we were one of four South-West finalists but then of course everything ground to a halt because of Covid. Judging has now resumed with a Zoom interview with David and Tim and despite very strong competition from the other finalists we're keeping our fingers crossed for the results.

With summer nearly here we have been busy stocking up our freezers with a new range of ice-creams, and we have burgers, steaks and sausages ready for your barbecues. Let's all hope for a lovely, sunny summer here in beautiful Devon.

Broadhembury and District Gardening Club

The gardening club will be selling plants in and around Broadhembury and also in the centre of Payhembury on Saturday May 8th between 10 am and 12 noon. The plants will be on a variety of small stalls spaced out in the centre of Broadhembury village and also outside various houses just outside the village.

A wide variety of plants will be for sale including vegetables, bedding and perennials. Please bring along something to carry home your purchases and remember that we will be observing social distancing! We will only be able to accept cash on the day as we don't have the card facilities which we have become so used to!

Parish Paper Announcements

We all enjoy our parish paper with the information and news it gives us every month.

I would like to take this opportunity to remind everyone that our editors are volunteers and manage to fit preparing the monthly issue around their busy lives. It will make life so much easier for them if you try and follow the requests on the following page. Many thanks.

I would also like to add a big thank you to the volunteers who deliver our parish papers in wind, rain and shine and Ceri for managing our advertisements – we really appreciate you!

Sue Derbyshire, Chairman

Calling all budding editors!

Thank you Sue for your kind words above! Kate, Christine and myself appreciate in return everything you, Ceri and all the team who work behind the scenes do to make this magazine possible!

We would love to welcome a new editor into the fold to help “share the load” throughout the year, so please do get in touch either via email or give one of us a call (see back page for details) if you are interested in learning more about the role.

Victoria, co-editor

William Garvey, furniture designers & makers, of Upton, are delighted to sponsor Payhembury Parish Paper

As restrictions will soon be lifting, we're expecting to have more articles and announcements in the paper again. We thought it would be useful to put some guidance together to make our lives as editors a bit easier!

Word count

It can be a struggle to fit everything in. Wherever possible, can you try to stick to a maximum of 450 words per article please for a one page spread, fewer if you have images to accompany the text. Please note we are restricted to a set number of pages and where required may have to edit articles to fit.

Word documents

One paragraph news pieces are fine to send in the body of the email. However, please submit longer articles in a Word document if you can. If you type directly into the email, it causes issues with formatting and means we can't just copy and paste into the Publisher file.

Images

Images need to be printable quality, particularly if you're sending one for the front cover. Usually, this means the file size should be at least 500kb, but over 1mb is generally better.

Posters

We often get sent posters of events to publicise. We print these as a full page when we can, but don't always have enough space for that. So, please make sure that any text will be large enough to read if the poster is shrunk down to a quarter of a page. Please also check what your poster looks like when it's black and white. Lighter coloured text, for example, doesn't always stand out enough when we convert to black and white.

Deadlines

While the deadline is the 18th of every month, we usually try to start work on the paper before that. So if you can send your article in before the 18th, we'd really appreciate it. Also, if you know you're going to be sending something in on the deadline, please let us know in advance if you can. This means we can allocate you the space, which saves us having to re-jig things around to fit in unexpected articles that come in on the 18th.

We're all volunteers and we fit editing the paper around jobs, children and other responsibilities. It's not unheard of for an editor to still be working on the paper at 11pm the night before the print deadline. Receiving articles early makes it so much easier for us to manage our time.

Thank you!
Kate, Christine and Victoria

Payhembury Weather

www.payhembury-weather.co.uk

Weather for March 2021

Rainfall: March was a drier month than usual with most of the rain around 12 March. After 26th March there has been no significant rain well into April with just the odd wintry shower. Hopefully by the time you read this it will have rained.

Temperatures: The temperatures in March gradually increased to a record warm maximum on 30 March of 20.9 degC giving the impression Spring had definitely arrived. However April started with the opposite, frosts at night and below average temperatures during the day causing anxiety for new plants outside. There have been 10 days with night time air temperatures below zero so far in April and probably more to come.

Sunshine: The first 3 months of 2021 have just been average in terms of sunshine in Payhembury as measured by the solar cells on my roof.

Weather elsewhere: On 1st April there was a fall of Saharan dust on the village which anyone with a car outside will have noted. The cold plunge which affected the U.K. in early April also caused serious devastation to the French vineyards even with fires lit around the vines. About 18,000 people evacuated their homes after torrential rains hit New South Wales, Australia, causing severe flooding in many parts on March 20 and 21, the worst floods since 1971. We have 3 volcanoes erupting in mid-April, La Soufriere affecting St. Vincent and the Grenadines, Mt Etna in Sicily and Fagradalsfjall on Iceland's Reykjanes Peninsula.

Paul's Nature Notes March-April 2021

Having lived for most of my life in the home counties and London and watched the decline in so many species it is easy here in Devon to take for granted what is quite rare in other parts of the country. We were involved with breeding bird surveys and although Sussex is very rich in birdlife it simply does not compare with Payhembury, where we are blessed with an abundance of nature in all its glorious forms. Despite the really cold patch in April, many old favourites have returned to breed: male blackcaps and chiffchaffs are vocal in setting up their territories and wrens, blackbirds, house sparrows and robins are already sitting on eggs, whilst blue and great tits are busy prospecting new bird boxes and pairs of siskins, greenfinches, goldfinches, long-tailed tits and coal tits continue to appear at the feeders. Indeed, there are 22 breeding bird species already in evidence in close proximity to the house with more still to come.

We have a new budding bird watcher in the family. Our 7 year old granddaughter was so pleased with herself when she spotted a pair of treecreepers working our silver birch for insects when she came on a recent visit. She could barely wait to tell her other grandparents, another pair of avid birdwatchers.

Many of us in the village already hugely enjoy the sight, and sounds, of our local hedgehogs. When we lived in Sussex they had already become incredibly rare. Finding a hazel nut with a neat hole gnawed in the side raised our hopes that dormice might also be present. Unfortunately, after doing some research we decided it was far more likely to be a bank vole, or possibly a wood mouse. Apparently it's all to do with the shape and markings around the hole.

Did you spot the bee flies last year when we had that really beautiful spell of warm weather at the start of the first Covid lock-down? They put in another early appearance this year during the brief spell of sunshine in late March, but have been largely torpid since after the beastly cold weather and nights returned.

For many of us the 12 April was a welcome relief, as we gathered outside the Six Bells to enjoy a pint and some food, the first time in so many miserable months. Spring has sprung, so let us all enjoy it!

A message from Nigel in Cheriton about a disease currently affecting Chaffinches:

We feed the wild birds in our front garden regularly. Unfortunately, over the last month we have noticed a disease amongst the Chaffinches which has now caused five fatalities and additional sightings of sick birds. This is despite regular cleaning of the feeders, daily changes of the drinking water, and moving the feeding sites twice.

I have submitted a disease report to the British Trust for Ornithology and they have confirmed that the disease is most likely to be Trichomonosis.

This disease is caused by a tiny parasite which develops in the birds' gullet which it gradually blocks. The Chaffinches have difficulty swallowing and starve to death over a period of a few days to a week. In the meantime, they bring up food and water that they cannot swallow which other birds pick up, and this transmits the disease. It spreads fast amongst finches which feed their young by regurgitating food, so it can be devastating for finches during the breeding season which is almost upon us.

We have noticed that in the final stages of infection the birds become very reluctant to move away when approached because they are so weak, and they are often attacked by their own kind. They will also stay close to a water trough or a bird bath. It is a pitiful sight, but there is nothing one can do except take steps to protect the healthy birds.

The prevalence of the disease here is now so serious that we, and our neighbours, have completely stopped feeding the birds, and taken away all the feeders and water provision. I don't know yet when we will resume feeding. The stoppage will need to be for at least a fortnight, but possibly for four weeks. We will follow the BTO guidance. As the disease is already established amongst Chaffinches here there is a danger that it could ravage the other finch populations in our area during the breeding season, and so we shall remain vigilant when we eventually resume feeding.

An Herb of 3 Phases

This plant is represented by 3 heavenly bodies:

The Sun

The Moon

The Stars

Yes, it's the Dandy Dandelion!

This once-prized plant, which gardeners used to exhibit at county Fairs, now holds the title of Public Lawn Enemy No. 1, inciting levels of disgust on par with those directed at vermin, politicians and people who remove their shoes and socks on airplanes. Before the invention of lawns, the golden blossoms and lion-toothed leaves were more likely to be praised as a bounty of food, medicine, and magic. Gardeners used to weed out the grass to make room for the dandelions.

The dandelion seems to be the flower earmarked for children: it is the only flower a kid can pick without getting into trouble. The seed heads offer so many possibilities: Blowing on dandelion puffballs can tell you if it's time to go home (the dandelion clock), how many years until you get married, or how many children you'll have – and of course, if you catch a flying dandelion seed, you can make a wish.

Dandelion has been used for centuries, so much so that the origin of its Latin name - Taraxacum officinale, has become confused over time. It may mean 'eye disorder', or 'to cure' from the Greek, or 'bitter herb' from Arabic. But the common name dandelion is derived from the French Dent-e-lion as the jagged shaped leaves are said to resemble lion's teeth additionally it was believed to impart strength and courage. Another common name is piss-a-bed born out in the old sayings that if you touched a dandelion in the evening, you would wet the bed.

Dandelions are more nutritious than many of the vegetables in your garden. In the autumn, the roots are high in inulin a great nutrient and source of prebiotic soluble fibre meaning that it feeds the good bacteria in your gut. In spring however, they contain primarily bitter constituents which stimulate the digestive tract so improving digestion. Together with the leaves which are not only diuretic but also packed with vitamins (A, B, C and D), and minerals such as potassium and iron, the dandelion plant is perfect for cleansing and feeding us.

So next time you're about to pluck out that dandelion out of your lawn, maybe just pause a moment ..... on top of everything else dandelions are actually good for your lawn. Their wide-spreading roots loosen hard-packed soil, aerate the earth, and help reduce erosion. The deep taproot pulls nutrients such as calcium from deep in the soil and makes them available to other plants. Dandelions also fertilize the grass.

Next time – The herb of 3 phases....

Parish Council meetings – Government ‘Call for Evidence’

For the last year the Parish Council have been able to continue to do their work by meeting remotely. The legislation that allows that to happen comes to an end on 6th May 2021, although a court case to be held on 21st April may allow it to continue under the 1972 Local Government Act. The government are now seeking the views of individual members of the public, councillors, anyone who has attended a remote/virtual meeting, anyone who didn't or couldn't attend a remote/virtual meeting, etc to find out what they feel about these sorts of meetings. The consultation lasts for 12 weeks starting on 25th March and ending on 17th June 2021. If you have a view about remote/virtual meetings that you would like to submit please complete the Government's survey which can be found at consult.communities.gov.uk/local-government-stewardship/local-authority-remote-meetings-call-for-evidence. Like face-to-face meetings, there are advantages and disadvantages of remote meetings, and this is your opportunity to say what you think.

Planned road closures – May & June 2021

The following is a list, compiled in mid-April, of anticipated roadworks that may affect Payhembury during May and June:

29th April – 7th May – road from Wolverstone Cross to Hembury Fort Cross for patching.

17th-19th May – road from Court Baron Cross (from Higher to Lower Cheriton) for patching.

The Devon County Council interactive roadworks map which can be accessed from a link on the webpage - <https://www.devon.gov.uk/roadsandtransport/live-roadworks-information/>. The map can show current and planned roadworks as well as the dates and reasons for the work. Please see http://www.payhemburyparishcouncil.org.uk/Roads\_and\_Highways\_29495.aspx for updates, more information and, where the information is available, links to DCC Highways for diversions.

Telephone Box Librarian

Thank you to Tina Humby who has volunteered to become the Telephone Box Librarian. Tina has already had a good sort out of the library and has tidied and cleaned the Telephone Box. She plans to do this on a regular basis. The Telephone Box Library is a wonderful asset in the parish and we are very grateful to Tina for taking on the role of looking after it for everyone.

Proposed solar power farm at Peradon Farm, Clyst Hydon - update

LightRock Power are continuing to gather views and feedback from those affected by the proposal to build a large solar power farm at Peradon Farm in Clyst Hydon (to be called Paytherden solar farm). The majority of the proposed solar farm lies within the parish of Clyst Hydon, but some of the fields earmarked are within Payhembury Parish and this large site will be very visible from Higher Tale. The construction phase, if it goes ahead, will impact people over a much bigger area including Tale, Talaton, Clyst Hydon and possibly Plymtree and is expected to last for 4-6 months. LightRock Power have made contact with many of those living close to the site and have held online Zoom meetings with some of them to discuss the proposal. They are proposing holding further meetings as required, potentially including a virtual 'Village Hall' type event to promote their proposal. They have a webpage - www.paytherdensolarfarm.com – with further information and contact details and they are very keen to hear any and all concerns and suggestions.

Dawn Chamberlain, Parish Clerk

Pause for Reflection

I am local resident who lives in the beautiful countryside near Lower Tale. You may be vaguely aware of the proposal to build a 148 acre electricity generation facility between Lower Tale and Cylst Hydon. These developments are called farms, but they are not like any farm as most people would understand the word.

The case for renewable energy and the threat of climate change are well made. But the case for developing huge generation plants on green field sites is not so clear cut. You may believe that if you can't see this development it will not affect you, you couldn't be more wrong. The impacts are significant and wide ranging.

My immediate concern is that the parishioners of the four parishes directly affected by this proposal; Payhembury, Talaton, Plymtree and Cylst Hydon do not have the full facts.

The consultation process put forward by the developers Lightrock Power, cannot be properly held during the pandemic. Engagement by E mail, teleconferences and Zoom calls discriminates against residents who don't have access to this technology for whatever reason. Right now residents are rightly concerned with the impacts of COVID 19 and have little headspace for local planning matters. However, the developer's timeline is unrelenting and they pursue the planning application as fast as possible. This is patently unfair.

If this proposal goes ahead and the one in Langford, which you may also not know about, space the size of 1,200 football pitches will be given over to electrical generation! Many people agree that development on this scale amounts to the industrialisation of the countryside.

I have written today to the 4 parish councils impacted and urged them to request a delay from the developers so that a proper consultation process can be held before a planning request is submitted. I have also requested our parish councils engage with the EDDC councillors now, to increase the level of oversight on this proposal. I hope you agree this is reasonable and support this approach. Please contact the parish council to voice your support for a delay and greater consultation.

Once you have the full facts, you may decide to object or support this proposal. But you owe it to yourself and your neighbours to get the full details on a massive development which may sit in our local countryside for 40 years or longer.

If you would like the information we have already received from the developers, please contact me at tomd681@gmail.com. Thank you.
