Rectory Notes June 2021 – Summer of Grace

Summer – what a wonderful word! The days stretch and relax. The sun shines (or not!). Warmth fills our bodies – winter’s cold becomes hard to imagine. Memories of childhood summers, lying back on the grass with gloriously nothing to do but gaze up at the deep blue sky and pick out animal shapes in the drifting clouds. A pint in a pub garden. The smell of suncream. Of barbeques.

What are you doing this summer? Less traveling than in others, perhaps. In whatever way Covid chooses to cramp our summer style, the season will still sing for us its song of joy and life, of vibrant flowers and fresh air, of laughter and love.

By strange design, the church’s calendar makes space for it. The year’s top performers cram into half the year – Christmas, Good Friday, Easter – with supporting acts from Advent and Lent, Pentecost closing the show. Then the stage clears. There is space for summer. Space to inhale more slowly the deep truths of those great festivals, of birth and death and resurrection. Space to allow grace to touch us in the everyday and the simple. Space simply to be.

So to finish, a poem of grace.

Sensing Grace

My days are full of possibilities, none more exhilarating than when I cross the threshold of grace.
Sky opens and space clears,
A radiant landscape
of belonging unfolds
And held, circled by love,
I stand in sunlight
And remember faithfulness.
Warmed and awakened
I am stilled by wonder
And breathe deeply
of this subversive beauty.
Grace never loses its power to startle,
to wrong-foot
to scandalise.

Limitless and immeasurable,
There are no strings attached.

Parish Coffee Morning June 23rd, 11am, Slade View

We are re-starting the monthly coffee mornings from June 23rd at 11am at Slade View, Babs and Roger's bungalow. For those new to the parish, this is an informal event, which happens each month in a different house around the parish. It is a good way of meeting new people over a cup of coffee and a chat.

We are looking for a few people to host these events, as one or two have retired or have moved away. If you are interested in helping out, with this please call Babs on 01404841409. Thank you

Planned Roadworks in Payhembury – July & August 2021

At the time of going to print, there are no planned roadworks for June.

1st-7th July: Road from Wolverstone Cross to Hembury Fort Cross for patching.

28th July-13th August: Road past Leyhill Farm and road past Uggaton Farm (from 9.30-15.30 each day) – to allow safe access for pole renewal and tree cutting to allow overhead fibre cabling and jointing.

In both of the above cases, delays are likely and diversions are expected to be put in place. More information and details of urgent, short-notice roadworks can be found on the Devon County Council interactive roadworks map, which can be accessed from a link on the webpage:

Village Hall Tidy Up

The Village Hall committee wants to say a BIG thank you to all the people who came to help on Saturday with the garden tidy up.

Everyone got stuck in, gutter clearing, drain cleaning, weeding, strimming and preparing for some nice decorative borders and a new path.

The frequent down pours even helped by showing us where the guttering and drains needed immediate attention. Everyone enjoyed catching up and sharing expertise, whether in plant knowledge, composting techniques or metal recycling.

The hall committee members are all volunteers and couldn't do all this without your help.

Whats next....

We are hoping to have a new path laid during the school holidays and the gate post fixed with support from the school.

We are also in discussions to renew the car park surface and while we cant create more car parking spaces from the space we have, we hope to mark them out more clearly to avoid confusion.

Please visit our website for regular updates on events and new activities or to hire the hall for your events. www.payhemburyvillagehall.org.uk

The Playing Fields – Dogs, Rubbish and Other Issues

The playing fields are a wonderful resource in the village and enjoyed by many people. However, there have been occasions recently where a number of different issues have been reported.

Firstly, the Parish Council would like to remind everyone that dogs are not allowed on the playing fields. Dog owners are asked to keep their pets away from the field and anyone using the field is also asked to shut the gate when they enter or leave.

Secondly, East Devon District Council are responsible for emptying the rubbish bin that is in the playing fields, however, it frequently gets overlooked by their collection team leading to piles of rubbish and an overflowing bin. This is being dealt with, but the situation can be helped by everyone taking their rubbish home with them wherever possible.

Finally, there has been recent evidence on the playing fields of a small fire and discarded broken glass. Clearly this is not acceptable in an area used by young children and families. If you find anything like this, please can you let the Parish Council know.

New Tale Bus Shelter

At the end of April, the new Tale Bus Shelter was installed at Tale Head Cross with an aim of providing some shelter to students whilst they waited for the school bus. Materials for the bus shelter were funded by the Parish Council, but the design and construction of this beautiful structure were down to Elliot Lee from Tale.

The Parish Council would like to thank Elliot for all his hard work in producing and installing this lovely shelter and to thank everyone who helped him. Hopefully it will help to keep students a lot drier whilst they wait for the school bus.

Playpark Improvements Fundraising Challenge

As you will be aware, back in late 2019 the Parish Council started a project to improve the facilities in the playing fields. The plans for these improvements can be found on the Parish Council website - www.payhemburyparishcouncil.org.uk/Playing_Fields_28526.aspx.

The work has, unfortunately, been delayed because of the pandemic, but phase 1 of the improvements is due to start very shortly.

The 4 phases are:

- Phase 1 – new goalposts, repair swings, create toddler area with fencing, 2 swings, play panels, spinner bowl.
- Phase 2 – install aerial runway (space to be made available for this as part of phase 1).
- Phase 3 – see-saw and nest swing – (or trampoline to replace them both).
- Phase 4 – cube replacement, including groundworks to remove existing surfaces.

Problem is - we can't do this without more funding. We have the funds for phase 1, but not for phases 2-4. We will get some funding as a share from the developments in the parish, but the amount from this source is unknown and likely to be insufficient. Grants are thin on the ground and, if we get any, they are likely to only match what we can raise ourselves.

We would like to challenge and motivate the whole parish to start thinking about ways in which funds could be raised. Get your best thinking caps on about how you could help raise the funds to make this playpark modern and safe. In the meantime, if you can possibly donate anything to the playpark fund now that will help massively. Generous donations from you in the past helped to build the village shop and the Payhembury to Colestocks footpath so we know that we can achieve big things when we work together.

We'd love to hear your ideas on how we can raise money! We'd love to receive donations!

Please contact the Parish Council with your ideas and/or donations – payhemburypc@payhemburyparishcouncil.org.uk

Thank you on behalf of the children of Payhembury.

Payhembury Parish Council

We want to send love and best wishes for a speedy recovery to Marjorie, who fell in the garden and broke her hip. Such a shame to have to be confined again but we know you will soon bounce back, Marjorie!

News from Payhembury Provisions 10th birthday celebrations!

In July, the shop will have been open for 10 years and in that time we have had many successes and a few worrying times but throughout we have relied on our fantastic volunteers and customers to support and sustain us. Now we hope, COVID permitting, to celebrate our 10th birthday with you all. Watch this space for details next month.

It's never too late to join our band of volunteers, all you have to do is give Anne Baxter a ring on 01404 841345 and you can arrange to come in and have a look at the shop and how it works from behind the till or as a back room helper, whichever you prefer. You don't have to commit to a certain number of hours or a particular slot on the rota (although that would earn you tremendous Brownie points from Anne!)

New products in the shop this month include the award-winning vegan Magnum ice-creams; we really do try to listen to our customers and stock what you're asking for and it seems that vegan ice-creams are not only popular but also delicious. We also stock Nuii macadamia and salted caramel ice-creams, which I can say from personal experience are the best!

Our fruit and veg fridge is bursting with fresh produce, we have deliveries on Tuesdays and Fridays from Dart Fresh our local supplier. There are nectarines, peaches, melons, strawberries, blueberries and raspberries available in season as well as fresh salads and vegetables. Because they are not usually pre-packed and wrapped in plastic you are free to choose exactly what you want and don't have to worry about adding to the vast plastic mountain we are all creating.

We are continuing to update and refurbish the shop as necessary and apologise for the couple of occasions recently when we had to close the shop in the afternoon to allow this to happen. The first time was for a new electricity supply to be connected and more recently for a new till and computer update to be installed, all very necessary but we are still looking for the button to turn off the new annoying beep on the till!

Payhembury Weather

www.payhembury-weather.co.uk

Weather for April 2021

Rainfall: April was an exceptionally dry month with the first significant rain on 28 April finally filling the water butts. This was less than half the normal monthly total. However as I write this on 12-13 May, we had 50 mm of rain which put the local rivers into full spate and made up for all the deficit in April and heavy showers on 15-16 May have added to this, so May will be well above average rainfall.

Temperatures: April was exceptional for the number of night air frosts, we had 16 including the last day of the month, which was damaging for some plants and we have had 3 frosts in May! In contrast, the daytime maximum temperatures were still above normal for April.

Sunshine: April was the sunniest month for a decade which helped to keep the daytime temperatures high.

Weather elsewhere: In early May, skiers in the Lake District have taken advantage of unseasonal snowfall to head to the slopes for the first time in months. Snow was also on 6 May in Scotland making voting more challenging.

At least three fatalities have been reported and around 230,000 have been displaced due to the onslaught of Typhoon Surigae in the Philippines. It was the first Super Typhoon of the year and the strongest April tropical cyclone on record.

Finally, deadly tornadoes, normally seen in the U.S., killed at least 10 in the Chinese city of Wuhan on the 14th May.

Paul's Nature Notes April-May 2021

Sorry about my typo last month when I confused months with moths. On the other hand, perhaps I should have been talking about moths. In almost two decades of monitoring moth populations I have been really shocked by how few there have been during April and early May. The constant frosty nights have held back the emergence of so many early spring species and I am left wondering if they will actually appear at all this season. During that lovely warm period at the end of March numbers peaked at around 50 but since then I have been able to count the number on the fingers of one hand, whilst some nights there have been none at all. Then there is the adverse knock on effect on insectivorous birds – they must be going hungry at times!

Do you remember the little owl box I told you about last year? Recently a swarm of bees moved in and dislodging them from 20 foot up a ladder, holding onto a branch with one arm, whilst smoking them out and scooping them into a box with the other was incredibly difficult. In less than a week they had produced a large amount of wax and had drawn it out into a honeycomb - a thing of great beauty and we marvelled at all those uniform hexagonal cells. Some also contained honey, which dripped out to be licked up by us! We managed to wire most of the salvageable comb onto empty frames, fitted them into a new hive and transferred the captured queen and workers into their new home, where they now appear to be prospering.

The really surprising find was a nest in the inner chamber, which ties up with us finding a dead nestling under the tree last year, although there had been neither sight nor sound from the parents. As the female lays about four eggs I am left asking myself a number of questions. Did any actually fledge last year? Do Little Owl nestlings predate their siblings, as Barn Owls do, or was the nest actually only made this year and the owls were evicted by the bee swarm?

Despite the cold weather, our hedgehogs are out and about and appear to be well fed. There is so much in the media these days about these lovely animals, which are now considered to be critically endangered. Luckily all still seems to be well in our part of Devon.

Halina's Herb Corner

This month I am going to talk about St John's Wort – so named because it nearly always flowers on 24th June, the feast day of St. John the Baptist, which is also considered the best day to harvest the plant.

St John's wort is a plant of ancient use, one that has been a protector and healer of people for centuries.

It's Latin botanical name is Hypericum perforatum - Hypericum loosely translates to 'rising above one's daemon'. This has long been seen as an herb that helps people to 'lift out of the dark places'. Whilst the perforatum refers to the collection of small red oil droplets which appear on the leaves on August 29, said to be the anniversary of The Baptist's beheading.

Undeniably, St. John's Wort's is best known for its antidepressant properties and is one of the most researched herbs with many trials showing it to be effective for treating those with mild to moderate depression.

St. John's Wort can also aid in combating anxiety, mood swings and Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD) and help to reset the circadian rhythm.

Historically, its healing ability was famed alongside its mood affective properties. All the classical medical writers, Pliny, Dioscorides, Hippocrates and Galen, recommended its use on wounds, burns, indeed most skin injuries. Gerard commented it to be a "most precious remedy for deepe wounds...there is not a better natural balsam...to cure any such wound."

St John's Wort can help treat nerve damage, as well as reducing the associated pain. Tinctures or teas can be taken internally, whilst the fixed oils are rubbed on externally. Typical uses would be for sciatica, and shingles.

It has been used to alleviate muscle pain, inflammatory conditions like gout, arthritis and as previously mentioned, nerve pain. This combination of physical and psychological effects improves the chance of relaxing sleep, which is a major ally when coping with chronic conditions.

Cautions: Always check with a Health Professional before taking St John's wort, as it is known to alter the activity of the liver, which can affect the breakdown of certain medications, so it should not be taken with drugs which are very sensitive to dosage such as warfarin or the contraceptive pill. In addition, St John's Wort contains many of the active components found in the conventional antidepressant medication prescribed by doctors, so can alter their dosage and effect.

And finally: Please remember because we are all unique, we can have different responses.

Update from Tale Millers CC

Games: Wednesday 2nd June at home to The Met Office Friday 4th June at home to Talaton Inn

Well after a very dry April, there was something predictable about the start of the cricket season, so after a couple of dry but somewhat chilly weeks we are now in the middle of a damper spell. That should not be confused with the dampening of enthusiasm among our squad, for whilst we have only managed two games to date they have resulted in a 100% away record, with wins coming at Clyst Hydon (when it felt like about minus 5) and down on the Jurassic Coast at Branscombe, when it was a bit warmer.

Whilst we haven't yet been trusted to change indoors without spreading the Covid, or indeed welcome spectators without inflicting the dreaded pandemic upon them, those heady days are just around the corner as I write. This afternoon the bar pumps are being ignited – pretty much an essential for our home games.

Without any doubt, the finest wicket we play on is also our shortest trip of the season, Clyst Hydon. For a relatively small, albeit well established, League Club the track is a batsman's dream and so it proved with The Millers racking up 150-5 (J Wood 27 Not, S Tout 25 Not, R Cook 25 Not, D Rugg 24 Not, M Hammett 13) before Clyst threatened our total but eventually fell a little short on 136-6, wickets for Steve Clegg, Riley Burgess, Jason Wood and Si Kittow. Also noteworthy was an extremely agile diving catch by keeper David Kittow, test match standard I'd say!

We followed this up with a trip to the East Devon coast and the only level piece of ground in Branscombe – in fact it doubles up as the air ambulance landing pad. On a slowish wicket, Branscombe Ravens (not sure why Ravens- didn't see any) looked both comfortable and confident as they cruised to 136-4 with Ralph Cook taking 2-5 with his seamers. The Millers struggled early on as four wickets fell in the first six overs but then rallied with some decent hitting from Neil Chambers, Dan Rugg and the veteran chairman to reach 139-6 with a couple of overs to spare. Neil had kindly brought some beers so it rounded off a good evening.

Hopefully between now and you reading this, we will manage to get a few more games in, but the first game in June (spectators allowed and bar definitely open!) is on Wednesday 2nd June at home to The Met Office, followed by Friday 4th June at home to Talaton Inn, normally a good local derby. Might even be a tad warmer by then.

We welcome all newcomers, whether social or playing, and are there are no admission charges on the turnstiles.

See you at silly mid

Climate Change

In last month's magazine, an update was provided on the proposed solar farm at Clyst Hyden (Paytherden Farm) together with thoughts by Tom Devine. I am a passionate advocate for action to slow down global warming but I am also very much against this solar farm as I will explain below. But first, let's get down to the basics.

Climate change is a catastrophe that is facing this planet, resulting in rising sea levels and more frequent weather extremes. If you look at the predictions at climatecentral.org you will see quite a lot of Exeter/Topsham will be underwater by 2050. The climate is changing quickly as a result of the planet warming up. The reason for this is too much greenhouse gas (carbon) being released into the atmosphere. The science is overwhelming.

It is believed that the planet will only stop warming when we reach "net zero" carbon dioxide emissions. Achieving net zero means reducing global greenhouse gas emissions to a much lower level than today – and balancing the remaining emissions by reabsorbing the same amount from the atmosphere. Greenhouse gasses can be absorbed by growing trees as well as through technological processes such as carbon capture.

The UK government has set a legally binding target to achieve net zero greenhouse gas emissions by 2050. To help with this everyone needs to consider how we can reduce our own carbon footprint; we cannot just go back to how we were before the pandemic. But shame on this government for not replacing the Green Homes Grant scheme and not investing in tidal power.

Low carbonisation can only really come through massive electrification and for that electricity to come from renewable sources. Which brings me back to the proposed solar farm. Solar energy is good in that it is clean and renewable. However, it cannot be right to "industrialise" our countryside by building solar farms on greenfield land. Solar panels should be on roofs of businesses and homes and not take up land that is needed for food production. The Building Research Establishment estimates that there are 250,000 hectares of south facing commercial roof space in the UK which could provide about 50% of our electricity demand if fitted with solar panels. Also, only about 4% of residential homes in the UK have solar panels. This must change.

Finally, I should add that the proposed solar farm website contains quite a lot of "greenwashing" statements and fails to mention a number of other issues such as high fences and solar farm traffic. For all of these reasons, I believe that the proposed solar farm should not be allowed to proceed.

Donations to the Parish Paper

We haven't put the "little brown envelopes" in the paper for 2 years and have decided that 2021 might be a good year to introduce them again.

Please put a donation in the envelope, however large or small, and leave it in the shop by 15 July.

Many thanks to you all for supporting our Parish Paper.
